

MISEREOR

MISEREOR is the agency of the German Catholics for development cooperation in partnership with the countries of the South. Since 1959 MISEREOR has supported more than 94,000 projects in over 100 countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America with some EUR 5.4 billion of funding. These funds come from donations, contributions of the Association of German Dioceses and state grants (the latter channelled through the German Catholic Central Agency for Development Aid (KZE) established in 1962).

www.misereor.org

Dr. Bernd Bornhorst is Head of the Development Policy Department, and serves on the board of the registered association Exposure-Dialog-Programm e.V. and of the Association of German Development NGOs (VENRO). He is also a member of the Steering Committee of the German NGO Forum on Environment and Development.

Anika Schroeder is a graduate environmental scientist and MISEREOR desk officer for climate change and development.